

24-hour emergency plumbing service

A plumbing emergency is unfortunately inevitable for most people at some point. While you may feel you can deal with a minor incident yourself, especially if you are handy with a set of tools, for some emergencies it's best to call in a professional.

At Sarrani, we offer a 24-hour emergency plumbing service, so you can call in a professional to deal with your emergency no matter what time of day or night it strikes.

Swift response

There's nothing worse than a broken boiler or burst pipe, especially in winter weather. And as plumbing emergencies usually involve water, this can cause untold damage to your property if not dealt with promptly.

Our service ensures a plumber or gas engineer will be sent out to you within a couple of hours, to assess the problem and repair it for you.

If they can't fix the problem straight away – if they need to order a part, for example – they will make it safe until they are able to return and complete the necessary work.

Emergencies covered

Our 24-hour service covers all types of plumbing emergency, such as:

- Leaking or burst pipes
- Leak detection
- Boiler breakdown
- Underfloor heating breakdown
- Burst water cylinder
- Seized mains stopcock
- Blocked drains

Who the service is for
